Tremendous Freshet on the Hudson.

The telegraph gives us some particulars of a tremendous flood on the Hudson, submerging a large part of the city of Albany, and doing incalculable damage. The water rose to a point three feet higher than ever known before and set the city on fire, in several places, by slacking lime in stores.

The Burdell Murder.

The New York papers, up to the 6th instant, received yesterday at McSorley & Co.'s News Depot, in advance of the mail, sold rapidly to parties eager to read further particulars of the Burdell murder. All the leading papers devote whole pages to the subject and report very minutely the testimony taken at the Coroner's Inquest. But thus far this testimony, voluminous as it is, utterly fails to throw any light on the circumstances of the tragedy. The developments of one day are contradicted by those of the next, and the investigation as yet has only served to shroud this terrible murder in deeper mystery.

Lake Michigan Steam Ferry.

Within the last few months we have copied a number of extracts from the Detroit papers, setting forth, in glowing terms, the energy and despatch with which the Directors of the Detroit and Milwaukee Railroad Company, were prosecuting their important enterprise. The people of this State have watched, with peculiar interest, the progress of that work, and especially rejoiced to hear of the success of the Company's negotiation in London, last year, for means sufficient to build and equip their road. Under the terms of the contract then made the road was to be completed to Grand Haven, opposite Milwaukee, by the 15th of September next, and, as yet, we have heard of no reason to doubt that the contractors will be up to time. While, however, the Detroit and Milwaukee R. R Company have pushed the work on their road with commendable vigor and gratifying success, they seem to have manifested a strange and unaccountable indifference to another enterprise, with which their own is inseparably identified. We refer to the Steam Ferry across Lake Michigan. It is needless to say that upon that depends, in a very great degree, the question of the productiveness and success of the Detroit and Milwaukee Rail-Road. That road can only hope to draw trade and travel from the West, through the agency of first-class steamers, plying across the Lake, and connecting the Wisconsin system of Rail Roads, centering at Milwaukee, with the Detroit and Milwaukee R. R. No old, second class, or inferior boats will answer the purpose. Nothing but the very best vessels that can be built, adapted especially to the service, will satisfy the requirements of the travelling public, or secure to the Michigan road the expected share of the Western business. To build such boats six months, at least, if not a longer period, is necessary; yet here we are, with the Detroit and Milwaukee R. R. within seven or eight months of its completion to Lake Michigan and the M. & M. R. R. almost within sight of the Mississippi, and not the first stroke of work has yet been done upon the boats required for the Steam Ferry.

For this delay, if we have been rightly informed, the Detroit & Milwaukee R. R. Company, are, in the main, responsible. Nearly a year ago, at their request, a charter was obtained from our Legislature for the Michigan & Wisconsin Transit Company, and in the Board of Directors, named in the Charter, all the roads interested in the Ferry were represented. A conference was next solicited to make definite arrangements for building and running the boats. But though appointment after appointment has been made for this purpose, our Michigan friends always failed to appear; assigning press of business and other excuses for their absence. Finally, the Rail Road Companies on this side of the Lake, agreed upon the terms and conditions of a contract and sent a copy for ratification to the Detroit & Milwaukee R. R. Co.—Their signature to the document would settle everything and be the signal for the immediate commencement of the boats. But that signature is, as yet, withheld, and meantime the Steam Ferry is at a stand still.

So far as we can learn, the contract proposed is a perfectly fair one, as between the several Rail Roads, and the Detroit and Milwaukee R. R. Company have the option of taking as much, or as little stock, in the Steam Ferry, as they please. The boats themselves—two or more, as the business shall require—are to be 260 feet in length, 40 feet beam, 15 feet hold, about 1500 tons burthen, with no upper cabins and no guards, forward or abaft the wheels. They will be provided with powerful engines and two masts to carry heavy fore and aft canvass. They will be built with special regard to strength and seagoing qualities; and their speed, in ordinary weather, will average from 15 to 20 miles per hour. Their estimated cost will be $150,00 each. Parties stand ready to take the necessary stock and commence building these boats, the moment the Rail Roads on each side of the Lake come to terms. Our Wisconsin Rail Roads have already signed and sealed. The Detroit and Milwaukee road alone holds back and thus effectually stops the way. We cannot think that this is done designedly, but rather because they do not appreciate, as fully as we on the West side of Lake Michigan do, the value of the prize which awaits them and the necessity of taking early and effectual measures to secure it. The trade and travel which our Wisconsin roads will pour across Lake Michigan will make the fortune of the Detroit & Milwaukee Railway, and all they are asked to do, in the premises, is to sign a contract which gives them all this business, substantially on their own terms. Can they hesitate any longer?

"Long-a-Coming."—We received on Saturday, a communication dated at Appleton, Jan. 5th, giving particulars of the fire which destroyed the Female Department of the Lawrence University, on the night of the 4th ultimo. While marvelling at the speed of Uncle Sam's mails, our eye fell upon the following words, written on the cover of the letter—"detained for postage." This satisfactorily accounted for the delay. All correspondents should bear in mind that letters are now required to be pre-paid in every instance. If not pre-paid, they are not forwarded in the mails.

Milwaukee City Bonds.—The N. Y. Tribune of Thursday, in its money article, states that owing to mail detentions the remittances to pay the interest due on our city bonds, the 2d inst, had not arrived; but that provision had been made therefor by Mr. James Ludington, and the coupons would be paid on presentation at the office of Duncan, Sherman & Co.

Annual Meeting of the Board of Trade.

The Board met pursuant to call, yesterday afternoon; Vice President Lester Sexton, in the Chair.

The Secretary read the following letter from the President:

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 7th, 1856.

To the Milwaukee Board of Trade:—As the Annual Election of officers will take place during my necessary absence from the city, I take the liberty to say that I most respectfully decline the use of my name in connection with the office of President for the current year, should any partiality of friends suggest it.

I will also take this opportunity to express my thanks to the Board for the honor conferred upon me at the last election.

With continued interest in the prosperity of the Board and the Mercantile interests of our city, I remain, &c., &c.,

WILLIAM J. WHALING.

The Secretary and Treasurer made reports—the former showing $36 in hand, and the Treasurer $112,08.

On motion of James Bonnell, the President appointed the following gentlemen a committee to recommend officers for the current year:

James Bonnell, Rufus King, S. B. Grant, Chas. P. Bradley, John Furlong.

On motion of L. H. Kellogg, the Secretary was directed to send the members of the Legislature each a copy of the Annual Report, and pay for them from the funds of the Board.

The committee to nominate officers reported to the Board the following list, which was unanimously elected by ballot.

President—L. H. Kellogg.
Vice President—S. T. Hooker.
Treasurer—M. H. Bridge.
Secretary—A. J. Aikens.
Arbitrators—C. T. Bradley, John Furlong, James Bonnell, J. T. Bradford, Henry Fess, Jr.
Directors—W. J. Whaling, Lester Sexton, Alex. Mitchell, R. P. Elmore, G. P. Hewitt, F. J. Bosworth, J. A. Dutcher, G. Bremer, J. H. Cordes, Byron Kilbourn, C. D. Nash, E. D. Baker.

On motion of Gen. King, the President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer were instructed to enquire and report to the Board as to suitable rooms for the year coming.

Resolved, That the President and Secretary be authorized to subscribe for such number and character of newspapers as they may deem useful for the purposes of the Board; subscriptions to run from April 1st to December 1st, 1857.

Voted, That a claim of Wm. Beck be referred to the President and Vice President. Adjourned.

The Flood at the South.

Our exchanges from Illinois and elsewhere, received by yesterday's mail, are filled with details of loss of life and property, caused by the flood of Friday and Saturday last. At Chicago, for some hours on Saturday, the alarm was general, the river rising fast and great apprehension felt of another such disastrous flood as that of March, 1849. Happily, however, these fears proved unfounded, and with the change of weather, Saturday evening, the danger passed away.

In the country and along the lines of the Railroads, extensive damage was done. We copy from the Chicago papers:

DAMAGE IN THE COUNTRY.

Advices from the country represent the damage done as far more serious than in the city, and we regret to say accompanied with loss of life.

We learn that all the bridges at Aurora, including the Railroad bridge, have been carried away. There were three men, (the road master, a conductor and a brakeman,) upon the bridge at the time it went away, and sad to record, two were lost. The road master was saved.

The Galena Railroad bridge at Elgin is also said to be carried away. A number of culverts on this road were destroyed.

The train on the Chicago and Fond du Lac Road were obliged to return on account of the track having been carried away, and it is also reported that the bridge of this road which crosses the Aux Plains has also been carried away.

On the Michigan Central Railroad it is rumored that the bridge across the Calumet has been carried away; also the bridge at Ypsilanti, Michigan, but these rumors are contradicted by the officers of that road, and trains were running as usual.

On the Michigan Southern Railroad it is also reported that the bridge at the Calumet has also been carried away, but the report is not credited.

On the Rock Island Railroad on Friday night, a fatal accident occurred to the freight train coming this way. The bridge of the Du Page River had been moved to one side by the ice and the engine and tender of the train, together with six cars were precipitated into the river. The engineer and firemen and a brakeman are missing and supposed to be drowned. There is a bare possibility that one or more of them had floated down with the current and been saved. A number of horses on the train were lost.

It is reported that the bridge on the Burlington and Quincy Railroad across the Bureau River had been carried away.

The telegraph to the West being to a great extent interrupted it is impossible to obtain news to be relied on from the various lines of travel leading to the city.

At St. Louis the river opened without doing any material damage to steamors at that port.—At Cincinnati, six steamers were totally wrecked and other serious damage done. At Detroit, the river is once more free from ice. At Cleveland, extensive damage was done by the flood.

In this city and vicinity no injury of any account was sustained.

"African Legislation."

The News sneers at our Republican Legislature for adopting a memorial to Congress, asking such a change in the basis of Federal representation, as that Slaves shall no longer be counted, in apportioning Members of Congress among the several States, and for "submitting to the people the question of negro suffrage." We are well aware that Sham Democracy distrusts the people and contains no article in its creed, recognizing the claim of the "negro" to any of the rights of man. We are not surprised, therefore, that the News, whose "democracy" is but skin-deep and thin-skinned at that, should object to both propositions. But we are glad to know that some, at least, of the Democrats in the Legislature, take more just and liberal views. Senator O'Neill, of this city, did himself and his constituents credit, in the debate on the bill to extend the Right of Suffrage, by declaring that "he knew of no principle of democracy which "called upon him to refuse to colored men the "rights of human beings." There spoke the MAN! The utterances of the News are those of the partisan and the demagogue.

Sam and Sambo.—In the Legislature of Ohio it is proposed to disfranchise the white men born in foreign countries, and enfranchise negroes.—This proposition, if it passes, will be the bond of union between the factions.—News.

In the Legislature of South Carolina, unanimously democratic, "white men born in foreign countries" have already been "disfranchised," while "negroes" are held in close bondage. In the Legislature of Wisconsin the democratic minority oppose every proposition for the benefit of "negroes" and vote for a man, for U. S. Senator, who "proposed to disfranchise the white men born in foreign countries." These are "the bonds of union," between Sam and Sham, the Know-Nothings and the "Democrats."

Flouring Mill and Woolen Factory.—Mr. W. Burke, Esq., of this city, will erect a Flouring Mill and Woolen Factory at Mazo Manie, Dane Co., the coming season. We congratulate our friend on selecting so good a power and such an excellent location. He was the first person to introduce the manufacture of woolen goods in our State, and we cordially wish him every success in his new undertaking. There is ample room for some large manufacturing establishment in our State. We have the raw material in abundance and are very extensive consumers of the manufactured article. With capital and skill it must needs be a profitable business. Transportation, Commission, Insurance etc., are all in our favor. We call the attention of our eastern friends to the fact.

☞ An immense crowd attended the late Dr. Burdell's funeral at Grace Church, New York, on Wednesday last. The body was taken to Greenwood Cemetery for interment.

FROM MADISON.

Editorial Correspondence of the Sentinel.

MADISON, Feb. 7.

A bill was introduced in the Senate yesterday providing that in cases where the presiding officers shall refuse to certify to the result of elections in Joint Convention, the Chief Clerks of the two Houses shall make such certificate. Of course this is intended to apply to the case of the election of U. S. Senator, and like cases hereafter.

A resolution has gone to Committee in Senate for an enquiry as to the expediency of postponing the time of the annual meeting of the Legislature to the second Wednesday of February.—Doubtless the object is to give more time for the arrangement and completion of the Department Reports, &c., before the Legislature meets.—That object is a good one. Up to this time, but one Report—that of the Commissioners of School Lands—has come in from the printers, and at least one of them—the Regents' Report—is not yet all furnished to the printer! So that the Legislature is acting in the dark; and, what is worse, the copies of the laws of last year are not yet distributed.

But would not the object, acknowledged to be a good one, be better reached by making the fiscal year close on the 1st of October, so that there may be ample time for preparing the Reports, which might in that case be handed over at once to the state printers, and be ready by or soon after the opening of the Legislature? This seems to me the better plan.

Preservation of the purity of the ballot.

Mr. Barber's carefully drawn and stringent bill, providing against frauds upon the elective franchise, was discussed in committee of the whole in Senate. With slight modifications, I think it will become a law. I enclose a copy of this bill. It is already amended so as to make its provisions applicable to all elections where a ballot is required. It may be well to publish it, to indicate to Waupaca, Krumnenaw, Watertown, 3d ward of Milwaukee, &c., what is being got ready for them.

A petition from the late state treasurer—a hard case.

Mr. Horn presented a petition from E. H. Janssen, State Treasurer under the late Barstow administration, asking for relief from the liabilities under which he lies to the State, from the deficit found in his accounts. It must be confessed that his case is a hard one. The following points in it are briefly set forth in the petition:

That he has gone out of office no better off than he entered into office.

That the deficit arises from carelessness in book-keeping, and dishonesty on the part of his assistants, and of others who had access to the vaults.

That he was obliged to leave the business to assistants during a considerable time, on account of private misfortunes, having been almost crazed by the burning of his house, and one of his children, and by the death, in quick succession, of his brother, father-in-law, and 3 children, of cholera.

That even under the circumstances, he would not have retained office, but would have resigned if he had not supposed that the Governor would have required the quarterly report demanded by law.

The above are the principal points in the case. The question is, whether the public interests demand that Mr. Janssen shall be made the victim of the rascality of political friends to whom he trusted, and be stripped of his little property; or whether the State shall charge the amount to profit and loss, and thank Heaven that it has got rid of the Forty Thieves as cheaply as it has.

A good day's work.

The best day's work of the session has been done to-day. About a dozen bills were introduced, twenty or more were passed, some sixty passed through the committee of the whole, and a large number ordered engrossed. Of course, the great majority of these are private and local bills.

Among the general acts is one fixing the salaries of the officers of the Legislature, at the following rates:

Chief Clerk	$6,00	per day.
1st Assistant do	5,00	" "
Other Clerks	4,00	" "
Sergt-at-Arms	5,00	" "
Assistant do	4,00	" "
Postmasters	4,00	" "
Assistant do	3,00	" "
Doorkeepers	3,50	" "
Assistant do	3,00	" "
Firemen	3,00	" "
Messengers	2,00	" "

The next Legislature will do as it pleases, of course, about obeying this law.

As I mentioned above, business has gone forward rapidly to-day, and a vast number of bills, not eliciting debate, has been pushed forward.—Moses M. Strong was the Chairman in the Committee of the Whole, and his way of doing things is well known. W. H. W.

Annual Report of the Board of Regents of the University—Abstract.

MADISON, Feb. 7, '57.

The Report is yet unfinished, as to various articles belonging to the appendix, but a few sheets of the report proper were distributed in Senate this morning, and from these I make the following abstract:

The buildings of the University have been kept in good repair during the past year.

The Library has about 1500 volumes, and there has been appropriated $1250,00 for its increase. Additions have been made to the Chemical and Philosophical Apparatus; a Transit Instrument has been purchased; $750 has been voted, for fitting up a chemical laboratory, and $500 for fitting up the Philosophical room. The Cabinet has been greatly enlarged by the purchase of the valuable collection of Prof. Carr, made by him as one of the geologists of New York. The specimens collected by the State Geologist are required to be deposited in the University Museum.

Departments employing the Chancellor, five Professors and a tutor, have been in operation during the past year.

The Chair of Theoretical and Practical Engineering has been established, and will be filled as soon as the right man can be found ready to take the post.

The Department of Normal Instruction, under Prof. Read, had a class of 18 last year, preparing themselves for teachers. The class will be formed this year the last week in April and continue till the 4th Wednesday of July.

The instructions of Prof. Carr, in Agricultural Chemistry, will also be given during the summer term. This Department is provided with the necessary apparatus for making analyses of soils.

To students who reside in the University buildings, the whole charge for tuition, room rent, wood, board and washing, is about $115,00 per year.

The number of students, of all grades, on the books for the past year, is 169, an increase of over 50 beyond the number of the previous year.

The Board represent that the completion of the main building,—intended for the Library, Cabinet, Lecture and Recitation rooms, and various other purposes necessary to the accommodation of the Departments of the Institution, is called for; and they wish to be authorized to effect a loan of $35,000, to be repaid out of the surplus revenue of the University Fund.

The vacancies in the Medical Board have been filled and $450 voted to aid in the purchase of a Cabinet to be used in instruction. A course of Lectures will be delivered next winter, or in the spring thereafter.

The Law Department has been organized, and appointments made. No time is mentioned for commencing the Lectures.

The productive fund of the University, when the lands are all sold, will amount to about $350,000. This endowment the Board regard as not more than a "good beginning" toward what is necessary, in comparison with the amount necessary as the capital fund of the first class Universities, even in this country.

The revenue for 1855 was $14,515, and the amount expended was $13,460.

The income for 1856, and the expenditures (including $0,812 for salaries of all kinds) $15,712, leaving a balance of $2,822, which the Board propose shall go towards the main building, or to pay old debts.

The term of service of four Regents, E. M. Hunter, Beriah Brown, Alonzo Wing, and J. D. Ruggles, expires on the 26th of February next.

W. H. W.

A New Soft Spot in Washington's Heart.

Mrs. Kirkland's new Memoir of Washington, with a great number of other interesting personal items, gives the following account of one of the General's early wounds:

Miss Mary Phillipse, sister of Mrs. Robinson, was a handsome and sprightly girl, a great belle in her day, and a worthy and accomplished woman always. Washington, who had, doubtless, lost in the stir of war all tender recollections of the "Lowland beauty" spoken of at an earlier date, seems at once to have struck his flag before this new invader, whose power was very probably increased by the circumstances of the moment. After the annoyance, the rough life, the constant and severe duty of a recruiting tour in a state of alarm, the quiet, the elegance, the softening atmosphere of a New York drawing room, must have given the young lady great advantages.

Washington fancied this fair flower transplanted to Mount Vernon, and carrying with her the charming refinement, the genial air in which he found her. No wonder the fascination took effect But somebody else—another officer—had indulged the same dream, and somewhat in advance of the Virginia Colonel. Washington could not remain to try his fortunes in a prolonged contest. Captain Morris, one of General Braddock's aids, and wounded in the miserable battle of the Monongahela, stationed in New York, and not now called away by duty, kept his ground, and the result was that in due time Miss Phillipse became Mrs. Morris, while another lady,—no less celebrated for personal charms as well as those of fortune and position,—was reserved for the future of Washington.

Judge Howe.

Much has been said in several papers, in relation to Judge Howe's sympathies with the Know Nothings; and the fact that John Lockwood and his "dark lantern" tribe, did, (or pretended) to prefer Judge Howe for U. S. Senator has been made the occasion of classing him with them. Again, it is charged that Judge Howe, who was one of the Committee on Resolutions in the Republican State Convention last June, opposed a resolution denouncing Know Nothingism—from that fact is drawn the inference that he sympathized with them, if he was not actually a member.

The Milwaukee Free Democrat published these charges, and referred to Judge Potter, of Walworth Co., for proof. In a letter dated East Troy, Jan. 27, 1857, Judge Potter writes to the Free Democrat in relation to the subject, the closing paragraph of which we quote.

"As you appeal to me in the matter, it is but just to Judge Howe, that I should state, as I have before stated, that in opposing the resolutions alluded to, in committee, he expressly said that he was not opposed to the principles of the resolutions, or to its form, but he opposed it solely on the ground that its incorporation into the platform was impolitic and unnecessary. It is due to Judge Howe, that his position be fairly stated."

Since receiving the above, we called on N. H. Dale, Esq., one of the delegates from this County who was one of the Committee on Resolutions and asked him if he remembered the remarks of Judge Howe in Committee. Mr. D. said that the statement of Judge Potter was correct; that Judge Howe fully approved of the principles of the resolutions—the only question was in regard to the language in which it should be clothed. Mr. Dale is an Englishman by birth, but we believe this fact was entirely unknown to the rest of the committee at the time of their meeting. We presume he will not be suspected of "dark lantern" sympathies.

Mr. Dale, as well as Judge Howe, objected to the resolutions as originally drafted. Mr. D., wanted to see them adopted in a form that would satisfy foreigners that the Republicans had no sympathy with Know Nothingism, and not appear like a bid for foreign votes.—Racine Advocate.

A Wolf in the City—Several Persons Attacked.

It is said that there was a veritable big gray, lean, famished wolf—a regular orthodox denizen of the forest—prowling about our streets in the storm last night, seeking something to devour.

A young man who tends the saloon under the American House, named D. P. Bowman, informs us that he had a rencontre with him near the residence of Mr. Bow man, on Washington Avenue, at about five o'clock this morning. He was on his way from the boarding house to the saloon. He first heard him howl in a short time his wolfship came up and made a leap at his throat. The young man was unarmed except with a pocket knife, but by dint of kicking and striking and some dodging, succeeded in keeping his assailant at bay until he got that weapon out and opened. He then gave the ravenous beast a cut with the knife that made him a little more wary, and in this manner fought his way up to the American Home. The wolf jumped upon him a number of times and made several fearful rents in his pantaloons and shawl.

Soon after lighting up the saloon, preparatory to putting things in order for the business of the day, a portly Teuton burst in the door, with hair standing on end, and face where fright had blanched every trace of lager excidming:

"Oh, mein Gott! mein Gott! Der bear ist gomin Er gomes at me in der street, and vill eat me up altogedder.

After partially recovering his self possession and fortifying his courage by a stout dose of Schnapps, Hans and Bowman sallied forth, with a large fire shovel and a knife for a second encounter. They found the ferocious animal in waiting in the middle of the street, and succeeded, by a vigorous application of the former weapon, in inducing him to decamp.

Our impression was, on first hearing the story, that the wolf was a dog, but Mr. Bowman insists that he is familiar with the appearance of wolves, and was not mistaken.

One of our pressmen who had been at work all night, also had a similar encounter with the animal, when leaving the office a little after five o'clock, this morning, in front of Bruen's Block. He is also positive that it was a wolf. The latter sprang at him several times, he had an umbrella, and kept him off by spreading it in his face, after the manner of the lady in India, who discomfited a tiger by a similar stratagem. Our boys are all strictly temperate, and the theory that any of them should mistake the strictly ornamental cast iron Lions at the bottom of the stairs, for live and savage beasts, and imagine that he had a dangerous conflict with them, is not to be entertained for a moment.

Seriously, then, from all accounts, the animal in question seems to have been a wolf, without doubt, and a hungry one at that. Our Common Council will doubtless take the matter in hand, at their next meeting, and pass an ordinance prohibiting such forest interlopers from intruding within the city limits. It is bad enough to tolerate the numerous "tigers" that infest our city, and prey upon the unwary stranger, without the superaddition of ferocious, and famished fourlegged beasts of this description.

P. S.—Since writing the above, we have heard a report, about town, to the effect that a man was assaulted and eaten up by wolves, last night, some four miles north-west of this city.—Madison Journal, Feb. 7.

Railroad.—The track of the LaCrosse R. R. is laid to within a mile of the Portage depot. About 15 teams are running night and day, drawing ties, and men are laying track as fast as ties are supplied. How long it will be, at that rate, before the passenger trains run to Portage, we will not attempt to estimate—as cold weather and a storm may disappoint everybody, as they have before. The probability is, however, that the first passenger train will reach here about next Tuesday. The depot is all done but the plastering.—Portage City Ind., Feb. 5.

Ozaukee Ship Yard.—Capt. Llyfild is building a splendid steam tug boat, and B. Blake is about building a large vessel. We will give their dimensions in our next.—Ozaukee Co Advertiser.

[From the New York Times Feb. 5.]

The Terrible Tragedy in New York.—The Mystery Deeper as the Investigation Progresses.

Not the least progress was made yesterday toward discovering the murderer of Dr. Burdell. Indeed the mystery seems to grow deeper and more impenetrable with every successive step of the investigation. It was natural that suspicion should first fasten upon the inmates of the house. The Coroner from the beginning evidently assumed that they were the guilty parties; and the inquest has been conducted upon this impression. Testimony has been sought rather to make it probable that they were the murderers, than to elicit all the facts connected with the murder. Yet with every successive step in the inquiry, one after another of the suspicious circumstances is explained, and we presume every lawyer will agree with us in saying that, at this moment, there is not the slightest legal evidence to convict any of the inmates of the house of any connection with this horrid crime.

It has been proved that Dr. Burdell and Mrs. Cunningham had been on unfriendly terms; that she had commenced suits at law against him, and complained of him as having done her wrong But it is also shown that these suits had been withdrawn, and that all their differences had been amicably and finally settled. It is claimed that she tried to entrap him into marriage; and while she claims to have succeeded, it is alleged, or rather suspected, that this was false, and that he was personated in that ceremony by Mr. Eckel. But this is by no means proved; and if it were, it would fall very far short of evidence to support the charge of murder. On the other hand it is shown that on the night of the murder she invited her two daughters to sleep with her for the first time, because they were going away early in the morning, and that they did so. This is absolutely incompatible with the supposition that she took any personal and premeditated part in that murder—except on the incredible supposition that she voluntarily admitted those daughters to a knowledge of her share in the transaction, or the still more monstrous hypothesis that they also shared her guilt. They have not yet been examined; but we presume they will testify to her not having been absent from her bed room after 11 o'clock or the night in question. The most extraordinary latitude has been permitted in the introduction of testimony to blacken her character, apparently for no other purpose but to show that she was capable of the crime. The suspicious cast upon the manner of her first husband's death were disappated yesterday by Mr. Ladd's evidence that he died of consumption after a sickness of nine months. Nothing that she has said or done since the murder—upon first hearing of it or at any other time, seems to us to furnish even presumptive evidence of her guilt.

With regard to Eckel, the case is not one whit more clear. He disliked Dr. Burdell, as did many other persons in the community, and probably with much less reason. But nothing whatever is shown that indicated him as the Doctor's assassin. The circumstances which at the outset looked suspicious are gradually explained. He left the house at an unusually early hour the next morning; but abundant proof shows that this was in pursuance of a business engagement which he kept, all the details of which have been fully shown. The statement that Mrs. Cunningham went to his store in a carriage that day, has been disproved, and it is shown that he took his account-books from the store for the purpose of examining and posting them at his rooms on Sunday. Neither this, nor anything else that he has said or done, seems to us at all conclusive as to his participation in the murder. And in regard to young Snodgrass, the presumption of guilt, warranted by evidence, is still weaker.—The two little sons of Mrs. Cunningham slept in his room that night, as usual, and nothing has yet been adduced to show that he was absent from it. The bloody clothes found in the garret have been accounted for; the dagger found in one of the rooms, it is settled, was not large enough to have inflicted the stabs; the papers found in Eckel's room were in Mrs. Cunningham's desk, and they belonged properly to her rather than to Dr. Burdell, being stipulations, checks, &c., made by him for her benefit;—and so far as we can perceive, nothing whatever has yet been proved which warrants a well-grounded belief, or even a legal presumption or suspicion that the deed was perpetrated by the inmates of the house.

Fire!—Another School House burned.—Yesterday morning about 4 o'clock, a fire broke out in the school house of Dist. No. 5, first ward, and entirely consumed the building and contents. Loss said to be about $800, no insurance. We are informed that the fire originated from a box of ashes taken up the day previous, and left in the house. When will people learn to be careful? This is only the third school house that has taken fire in town this winter.—Appleton Free Press, Feb. 5.

☞ The North Pier, in this village, owned by Eames & Fordham, Chicago, is a total wreck. The remains of the Toledo, which passed through it in two places, together with heavy seas, has rendered it almost an irreparable loss.—Ozaukee Co. Advertiser.

Wood.—About 15,000 cords hickory, beech and maple wood are piled within our village limits. Ozaukee looks like one great lump of cordwood.—Ozaukee Co. Advertiser.

Mild Gunpowder.—The Boston Post tells a pleasant anecdote of Mr. G——, who, a good many years ago, was a retail merchant in a populous town in Vermont. He was famous as the "very pink of politeness," and was indeed an expert salesman. If he had not got the article that might happen to be called for, he was sure to name something that was sufficiently like it to answer the purpose. Thus when a customer enquired for "winter-strained oil," the merchant told him he hadn't got that kind exactly—but he had some that was "strained very late in the fall!" Discharge one article as you might, he was sure to find something to praise in it—if his tea was not strong, it was well flavored, &c., &c. On one occasion a customer having called for a sample of gunpowder, rubbed it in his hand to ascertain the proportion of charcoal, and then observed that it lacked strength. "I know," answered the imperturable tradesman—"I know the powder is not so strong as some, but you'll find it very mild and agreeable!"

CIRCUIT COURT.

HON. A. W. RANDALL, PRESIDING.

This Court commenced its February term yesterday.—At 2 P. M. the list of the Grand Jury was called, when they were sworn and charged, upon the statute prohibiting the sale of liquor or intoxicating drinks to the Indians; upon the statute against having it in possession within five miles of the mouth of the Wolf River; against the violation of election laws; against gaming; lotteries, the Judge dwelling upon the interests of gambling and its demoralizing tendencies; against trespassers upon School or University lands.

After which several jurors of the Petit Jury were excused, some of them because they could not understand English, although the Judge remarked that it was not a legal excuse. The Petit Jury were notified to appear at 9 A. M. to-day, (10th.)

PAY THE PRINTER.—At the beginning of the the year, printers, as well as other people, are expected to settle their accounts, and pay what they owe. In order to enable the printer to do this, his subscribers must "pay up." Of course there is nobody who will object to pay for his paper when reminded of it. We therefore take this opportunity of reminding those of our patrons who have not yet paid for their last year's subscriptions, that the first of January is past: and we would also respectfully suggest to them the propriety of "calling round" when they are next "down street," and settling up, thereby saving our collector much unnecessary trouble and enabling us to "do unto others as we would that they should do unto us." We have quite a number of subscribers in the distant parts of the city, as whose residences our collector has called a number of times, without ever having the good fortune to find them "in," and as our bills are small, and rather numerous, it "don't pay" to run after them more than a dozen times!

VESSEL SALES.—Mr. W. B. HIBBARD has sold to Capt. JAMES PORTER, the fine brig, D. Ferguson, for $10,000. The Ferguson is one of the best vessels in our Milwaukee fleet. Mr. HIBBARD has also sold one half of the schooner, H. Hagar, for $2,500.

James Ludington has sold to A. G. Van Schaick, the undivided one half of the schooner "Virginia Purdy," of this port, for three thousand dollars. Also, one half of the schooner "Argo," now lying at Chicago, for $2,700.

Capt James Stewart and A. G. Van Schaick, of this city have purchased the brig "Mahoning," of Buffalo, now lying at this port, of Capt N. Gebhard, of Buffalo, for six thousand dollars,

ETHIOPIAN MINSTRELS AT YOUNG'S HALL TO-NIGHT.—The Ethiopian Minstrels, notwithstanding the severe snow storm, had a good house last night at Concert Hall. Freshet in Illinois.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.

The severe rain of Friday and Saturday caused a tremendous freshet in the country west and north. Owing to damage to telegraph lines and destruction of railroad bridges, we are unable to give a full report of the loss of life and property. At Aurora, Friday night, two bridges on Fox River, a saw mill, planing mill, carriage factory, and large quantities of lumber were swept away. It is feared that several lives were lost. On Saturday morning, at the same place, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy R. R. bridge was destroyed. Bridges reported destroyed at Batavia, Geneva and St. Charles. On Friday evening the Rock Island R. R. bridge on Du Page river, near Joliet, fell with a freight train. The Rock Island R. R. bridge at Morris was entirely destroyed. The large bridge on the Chicago and Burlington R. R. on Bureau river moved ten feet, but was not destroyed. The Chicago and Milwaukee R. R. bridge on the north branch of the Chicago river is impassible. The Fond du Lac R. R. bridge at Aux Plains river reported gone, also portions of the track carried away. Several culvert bridges on the Galena Railroad destroyed. Telegraph on the same road working west fifty miles. It is supposed that the bridges on Rock River are not damaged.

The Michigan Central R. R. bridge at Ypsilanti was swept off Saturday noon. The bridge at Niles is also reported gone.

The Illinois river has risen 25 feet from Ottawa to La Salle. A number of canal boats sunk and destroyed.

Fears of several steamboats lost.

Several bridges were carried off on the St. Joseph and Kalamazoo rivers, Michigan.

Both branches of the Chicago river rose several feet on Saturday. The southwest portion of the city is entirely submerged. Great apprehension is felt for the safety of shipping, lumber yards, and bridges.

Sudden change in the weather on Saturday night. Considerable floating ice.

River now falling. Vessels considered out of danger.

Total damage done to the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy R. R. estimated $100,000.

The Burdell Murder.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.

Several witnesses testified in the Burdell case this morning. Dr.'s Blasdell and Smith both having business connection with Dr. Burdell, testified to their belief that the latter was at Saratoga on October 28th, the date of the alleged marriage. Blasdell also testified that certain papers found in Burdell's possession, and purporting to have passed between E. and Mrs. Cunningham, was forgeries. Miss Sallenbeck, a corset maker, testified that one evening, late in October, Mrs. C. and her eldest daughter came to her mother's house to await the arrival of a gentleman; the latter came, said all right, and then the three went off together. The witness was here conducted into another room, where were several persons, and requested to point out the man that called for
